Imagine:

The beauty of timber with the durability of PVC-U

Everyone likes PVC-U windows and doors. After all, unlike timber, you can fit and forget them. The trouble is, with their bulky lines old-style PVC-U windows never looked quite as good as timber.

Fully Sculptured (FS70) changes that. We think it's the closest PVC-U has come to matching the look of timber. FS70 has been specially designed with a sculptured frame and lowline glazing gaskets creating a slimline window with a large glass area to give you maximum daylight.

FS70 windows and doors are available in a range of colours and finishes so you can achieve the look that best suits your home. You can choose from white or a textured woodgrain in either Antique Oak or Rosewood. You can even select a woodgrain on the outside and a white finish on the inside.

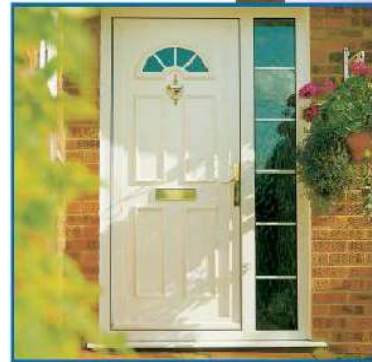

Staying safe and secure

By requesting Safeware handles and high security locks you will be guaranteed performance and good looks that never lets you down.

Slimline design

FS70 is crafted to replicate the appearance of timber windows. It achieves that using a clever sculptured edge, which not only looks good but has the look and feel of a traditional timber window, even when viewed from a distance away.

FS70's sculptured design is particularly easy to clean so that your windows will always be at their best.

Best weatherseal

Old PVC-U windows used to have a thick black or grey gasket line around the glass area. No more. FS70 has a unique discreet gasket that lets in more daylight – yet provides a full seal around the glass designed to prevent leaks and draughts permanently.

Any window or door you want

Every home is unique, which is why we make every FS70 frame to order. We can use FS70 to create virtually any window configuration you want – to match your existing frames (whatever they're made of) or to update the style and appearance of your home.

FS70 is also suitable for entrance doors, so you can give your home a complete external makeover with one, matching frame style.

Thermal efficiency

FS70 is a new breed of PVC-U window designed to exceed the government's stringent energy efficiency regulations which most old style PVC-U windows do not meet. FS70 windows and doors are manufactured with an extra thermal break chamber in the frames which significantly improves its thermal energy rating.

NEW slimline sculptured finish

Choice of finishes

As well as fresh white, the timber style beauty of FS70 can be complemented by our woodgrain finishes in either Rosewood or Antique Oak.

And you can even choose an exterior woodgrain finish combined with fresh white on the inside, so matching your décor is made easy.

Should you update your old PVC-U windows to FS70?

- FS70 meets the Government's energy efficiency targets – it is at least 20% more energy efficient than your old frames
- FS70 is more secure – it holds security Kitemarks from the BSI and the Police-approved Secured by Design scheme
- FS70 looks better – the slimline style of timber
- FS70 costs less – thanks to technical advances, pound for pound you'll pay 45% less for new windows today compared to 10 years ago

Wood you believe it

Looks like wood - lasts longer than wood

Our new sculptured windows and doors defy the eye

They look exactly like timber but unlike wood our windows will look as good as the day they were fitted for decades. So no more sanding, painting and treating.

Thanks to high performance double glazing and four chamber profile construction, FS70 will keep your house warm and help reduce your energy bills.

FS70 is available for windows, doors and conservatories in virtually any style.
